Schultüte:

When children in Germany, set off for their first day of school upon entering first grade, their parents and/or grandparents present them with a large Schultüte, attractively decorated and filled with toys, chocolate, candies/sweets, school supplies, and various other special treats. The cone is given to children to make this anxiously awaited first day of school a little sweeter.

Pictures as an example: